Schedule I – Responsibilities of auditors

Our specific responsibilities will be as detailed in the paragraphs below;

Our audit will be made with the objective of our expressing an opinion on the financial statements. The financial statements, in relation to the Company and its statement of financial position date, mean:

- the statement of financial position for the Company as at the statement of financial position date; and
- the statement of comprehensive income for the Company in relation to the accounting year ending at the statement of financial position date, together with any notes or documents giving information relating to the statement of financial position or statement of comprehensive income, including a statement of accounting policies;
- the statement of changes in equity between the Company's last two statement of financial position dates; and
- the statement of cash flows.

1. Auditors' report

Upon completion of our work, we shall make a report to the shareholders on the financial statements which have been audited. Our report shall state-

- the work done by us;
- the scope and limitations of the audit;
- the existence of any relationship (other than that of auditor) which we have with, or any interests which we have in, the Company or any of its subsidiaries, other than dealings with the Company in the ordinary course of business;
- whether we have obtained all information and explanations that we required;
- whether, in our opinion, as far as appears from our examination, proper accounting records have been kept by the Company;

- the matters to which they relate, and where they do not, the respects in which they fail to do so and whether the financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the International Financial Reporting Standards and the Ugandan Companies Act 2012; and
- whether, in our opinion, the financial statements present fairly the financial position, financial performance, and cash flows of the Company, and where they do not, the respects in which they fail to do so.

2. Attendance at shareholders' meeting

We shall attend such shareholders meeting and make such representation on matters which concern us as auditors as we deem necessary or appropriate.

3. Scope of the audit

We will conduct our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing issued by the International Auditing and Assurance Board. Those Standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatements. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

4. Limitations of an audit

Because of the test nature and other inherent limitations of an audit, together with the inherent limitations of any accounting and internal control system, there is an unavoidable risk that some material misstatements, errors, irregularities, or illegal acts, including fraud or defalcations may exist and are not detected by us.

5. Control environment

We shall consider the Company's control environment, accounting systems and control techniques in order to assess the adequacy of the accounting system as a basis for the preparation of the financial statements, to form an opinion as to whether proper accounting records have been maintained and for the purpose of determining the nature, timing and extent of our audit procedures.

The nature and extent of the tests that we will perform will vary according to our assessment of the control environment and accounting system and, where we wish to place reliance on them, our assessment of control techniques and may cover any aspect of the Company's operations.

Our consideration of the Company's control environment, accounting systems and control techniques will not entail a detailed study and evaluation of any of these elements for the purpose of providing assurances thereon or to identify significant deficiencies in internal control. However, any significant matters relating to the internal control structure noted during our audit will be communicated to you along with our comments and suggestions on these and other business matters.

6. Responsibilities for other information in documents containing audited financial statements

The objectives and scope of an audit of financial statements are formulated on the premise that our responsibility is restricted to information identified in our report. Accordingly, we have no specific responsibility to determine that other information in documents containing audited financial statements is properly stated and we have no statutory or contractual obligation to report specifically on such other information. However, we shall give consideration to such other information when issuing a report on the financial statements, as the credibility of the audited financial statements may be undermined by inconsistencies which may exist between the audited financial statements and other information.

7. Management Reporting

We expect to provide you with a separate letter concerning any material weaknesses in accounting and internal control systems which come to our notice during the course of our audit and shall discuss our findings with management as well as with the members of any Audit Committee.

We will expect to obtain prompt written feedback and comments from management in relation to the issues referred to in our management letter. Where no feedback has been obtained or where no action taken in relation to a material matter, we shall bring such significant matters to the attention of the Audit Committee.

Schedule II – Responsibilities of directors

The responsibility for maintaining proper accounting records and preparing financial statements, including adequate disclosure is that of the management of the Company. This includes the maintenance of adequate internal controls, the selection and application of accounting policies, and the safeguarding of the assets of the Company.

1. Accounting records to be kept

The Board of Directors shall cause accounting records to be kept that-

- correctly record and explain the transactions of the Company;
- shall at any time enable the financial position of the Company to be determined with reasonable accuracy;
- shall enable the directors to prepare financial statements that comply with the Companies Act 2012;
- shall enable the financial statements of the Company to be readily and properly audited.

2. Obligation to prepare financial statements

The Board of Directors shall ensure that the financial statements for the Company fairly present the financial position, financial performance and (cash flow) of the Company; are prepared in accordance with and comply with the Companies Act 2012 which applies to the Company's financial statements under any other enactments.

3. Access to information

The Board of Directors shall ensure that we have access at all times to the accounting records and other documents of the Company. We are entitled to receive from a director or employee of the Company such information and explanations as we think necessary for the performance of our duties as auditors.

4. Responsibility for prevention and detection of irregularities and fraud

The responsibility for the prevention and detection of irregularities and fraud rests with management. An effective system of internal accounting control reduces the probability that errors or irregularities may occur and remain undetected; however, it does not eliminate that possibility. We shall endeavour to plan our audit so that we have a reasonable expectation of detecting material misstatements in the financial statements or accounting records resulting from irregularities or fraud, but our examination should not be relied upon to disclose all irregularities and frauds which may exist. Any material errors or irregularities detected by us will be brought to the attention of the appropriate level of management and if necessary, the Board of Directors.

5. Responsibility for compliance with laws and regulations

Management has the responsibility to ensure that the entity's operations are conducted in accordance with laws and regulations. Likewise, the responsibility for the prevention and detection of noncompliance rests with management. We are not, and cannot be held responsible for preventing noncompliance.

The fact that an annual audit is carried out may, however, act as a deterrent. We shall plan and perform the audit bearing in mind that the audit may reveal conditions or events that would lead to questioning whether the Company is complying with laws and regulations. We shall, as soon as practicable, either communicate to, the Board of Directors and Senior Management, or obtain evidence that they are appropriately informed, regarding noncompliance that comes to our attention. However, we shall not do so for matters that are clearly inconsequential or trivial and may reach agreement in advance on the nature of such matters to be communicated.

6. Management Representation Letter

The information used in preparing the financial statements will include facts or judgments which are not recorded in the accounting records. Consequently, as part of our audit process, we will request from management written confirmation concerning representations made to us in connection with the audit:

- that the financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the Ugandan Companies Act of 2012 together with other statutory and professional reporting requirements;
- that sufficient records and related information have been maintained;
- that to the best of your knowledge and belief and that of management, there are no irregularities involving management or employees who have significant roles in the internal control structure;
- that all important information relevant to the audit have been brought to our attention;
- of any facts or judgment or other oral representations we have received or have been told during the course of our audit on matters that have a material effect on the financial statements;
- that the effects of misstatements brought to their attention by us are immaterial, both individually and in the aggregate, to the financial statements taken as a whole.

Schedule III – Terms of Business
